

The first exact results for random critical points originated by short range interactions have been obtained in [1] building on scale invariant scattering theory introduced in [2].

[1] Gesualdo Delfino,
Exact results for quenched bond randomness at criticality,
Phys. Rev. Lett. 118 (2017) 250601,
DOI: 10.1103/PhysRevLett.118.250601

[2] Gesualdo Delfino,
Parafermionic excitations and critical exponents of random cluster and $O(n)$
models,
ANNALS OF PHYSICS 333 (2013) 1,
DOI: 10.1016/j.aop.2013.02.009